It all began when Coleman created the first portable, gas-powered lantern that illuminated the first evening football game west of the Mississippi. In WWII, Coleman® camping stoves transformed the way soldiers ate in the field. The company continued to revolutionize the outdoors with their cooler manufacturing in the 1950s, and they added tents, sleeping bags, lighting, and more in the decades that followed.

where they are today

After more than 120 years, Coleman® gear is everywhere you are: on the trail, by the lake, at a tailgate, or in the middle of a music festival. They're always around a place where there are friends, coolers, and campfires. So, grab a tent, fire up a grill, and pull up a chair. The outside is calling. Answer it.
